In June, July, and August of 2004, publicity concerning the Bare Branches book included coverage in the New York Times, Washington Post, the Wall Street Journal, the Christian Science Monitor, U.S. News and World Report, the Times of London, the Financial Times, the International Herald Tribune, the Chronicle of Higher Education, the Washington Times, China Daily, Straits Times, South China Morning Press, the Boston Globe, the Times of India, BBC, VOA, CNN, and a variety of other media outlets too numerous to mention. The House International Relations Committee discussed the book in their hearings on China's one-child policy in December 2004. In spring 2007, the OSAGI office and IANGWE of the United Nations asked for presentation on the WomanStats Database. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked for WomanStats data to prepare for their hearings on the international problem of violence against women in fall 2009.
